A sharp remonstratee from British Consul Maxse, who new has two menarrence of this annoyance. The natives seems to be galaing strength every day, and several of Matania's chief adherents have gone over to his side. There are not much more than one-raif the people on Matnafa's side, and it is doubtful if more han one-third of the population are his ctive supporters. Among the British and Americans here it is not easy to see how the powers can act in any other way than to stand by Tanus as king. It is argued that if they do not, they deliberately break the Rerlin treaty and east a slight upon their rominee, the chief justice, and the case of Great Britain and the United States, they go back on their consular representatives here who have ac knowledged Tunun as king.
